The Musée de Picardie is among those places that cannot leave you indifferent. On discovering it in the urban fabric of the city centre of Amiens, the visitor may be surprised first by this imposing and majestic art palace, a monument such as the 19th century was fond of erecting. Its atmosphere, however, is like no other. In this very first purpose-built museum of France, the colours and ornate walls create an ideal setting for eclectic and abundant collections. This catalogue is an invitation to discover this unique, impressive and charming place.
